INTERNET CONNECTION IN SULU. U.S. Ambassador Kristie Kenney and Nuriza Mohammad browse the Internet on new computers provided with development assistance from the American people. The U.S. Ambassador traveled to Sulu Province on April 26, where she visited Maimbung National High School, one of 10 schools in the province that received Internet-connected computers from the US Agency for International Development (USAID). USAID's Computer Literacy and Internet Connection (CLIC) Program provides Internet-connected computers to public high schools and elementary schools in the Autonomous Region in Muslim Mindanao (ARMM) and other conflict-affected areas in Mindanao. To date, development assistance from the American people has provided 300 schools with Internet-connected computers. The CLIC Program will connect a total of 700 schools in the ARMM and surrounding areas by October 2007.
